

Atlantic Indigenous Mentorship Network – 2024/25 Kausattumi Grants Program

Call for Applications: Undergraduate Scholarships

Submission Deadline: June 19th, 2024

Background

The Atlantic Indigenous Mentorship Network (Atlantic-IMN) receives its core funding from the Institute of Indigenous Peoples' Health, CIHR through the Wabanaki-Labrador Indigenous Health Research Network. The Atlantic-IMN supports capacity building for students undertaking research related to Indigenous health and wellness and Indigenous early career researchers through culturally relevant learning opportunities and mentorship activities.

Funding Amount and Duration

Scholarships of $7,500 are available for Indigenous undergraduate students who have completed at least two years of postsecondary study and are involved in community-informed and supported health research that serves to benefit Indigenous communities in Atlantic Canada. By community-informed and supported health research, we are referring to research that responds to a community-identified need and is supported by an Indigenous community, Nation, or organization.

The funding is provided for a one-year period: September to August (2024-2025). The amount of the scholarship will be pro-rated in the case of part-time enrolment status and/or expected date of completion for current program of study. For example, a student enrolled in an Undergraduate program on a part-time basis will be eligible to receive a scholarship award of $3,750.

Eligibility Requirements

- First Nations, Métis, and Inuit undergraduate students who have completed at least two years of postsecondary study and are involved in community-informed and supported health research that serves to benefit Indigenous communities in Atlantic Canada, with the supervision of an Indigenous or allied health scholar at a post-secondary institution.
- First Nations, Métis, and Inuit undergraduate students are eligible if they are attending any Canadian post-secondary institution, as long as they haven't received funding from another Indigenous Mentorship Network in the same funding period.
- If a student is applying from outside of Atlantic Canada, they must demonstrate a connection to the region (e.g., they must be Indigenous to Atlantic Canada and/or they must demonstrate the impact that their research will have on the health of Indigenous communities in Atlantic Canada).

Successful applicants will participate in and contribute to the Atlantic-IMN and broader IMNP activities.

Application Deadline

Please complete and submit the application via email to info@atlantic-imn.ca by June 19th, 2024 (5pm ATL). State your last name and the type of application you are submitting (e.g., LastName_Undergraduate_Scholarship) in the email subject line and application file name. Application forms may be downloaded from the Atlantic-IMN website: www.atlantic-imn.ca.

If you have any questions about the application process or requirements, or want help completing the application, please contact the Atlantic-IMN Coordinator via email: info@atlantic-imn.ca